Stop efficiency regulations for commercial dryers

Regulating efficiency of the commercial dryers will hurt the most vulnerable section of the population that presently is using public washing facilities. Owners will have to spend more money for equipment passing the costs to the customers. Industry is presently improving dryer efficiency and the owners are changing the equipment to save money decreasing their gas costs. There is absolutely no reason to have another law regulating that. As usual this well ment law will have unintended consequences and will hurt as usually the most vulnerable section of the population. Thank you for your consideration.
