The Joy of Cooking

Anyone that has had the joy of cooking for oneself or loved ones would understand the need and desire to continue the use of an open flame. I have tried both types of stove top cooking and I have always found that my success and enjoyment are measurably better with a gas range. I have had to relent to an electric oven already, please don't take my gas range away. It would be a mistake not to also mention the higher costs of electricity versus natural gas. This would certainly impact those residents that are struggling to take care of their families and put good food on their tables. Thank you.
