i support electric appliances in homes

in our home, we installed electric appliances. we are going to switch out our gas hot water heater soon. but, our furnace is gas and we can't afford to do anything about that. optimally, gas is most appropriate for energy backup purposes only, not as a main source of energy. For example, propane bbqs are a good option for cooking needs in a power outage. But, our reliance on gas is overblown when it comes to all of our heating needs. climate change concerns demand that we transition to electric appliances in homes and businesses.
