California Energy Commission,

Every new roof with solar panels is a major expense that keeps low income homebuyers from affording a home! I strongly urge you to retreat from this important program, and NOT require solar installations on every new rooftop in California! Letting them hookup to solar arrays elsewhere is however, critical to ensuring access to clean green energy! With the housing shortages in and high housing prices in CA, we must not force Homebuyers to pay the extra cost of going green, that should be the taxpayers that foot that bill! AND force the CPUC to upgrade their power line infrastructure to prevent these massive fires that release more carbon than we can ever save from rooftop solar panels. I own solar panels on MY roof, but we should not force future homebuyers to bear these costs.

Sincerely,
