RPS-16-03 Existing decisional law related directly to the proposed action

Perhaps I have overlooked something that the Energy Commission considers decisional law. I have not found reference to any existing decisional law related directly to the proposed action in the notice of proposed action.

Pursuant to Government Code - GOV 11346.5. (a) (3) An informative digest drafted in plain English shall be included in the notice of proposed adoption. The informative digest shall include the a concise and clear summary of existing laws and regulations, if any, related directly to the proposed action and of the effect of the proposed action.

Pursuant to Government Code - GOV 811. "Law" includes not only enactments but also the decisional law applicable within this State as determined and declared from time to time by the courts of this State and of the United States.

Please clarify the Energy Commission position on decisional law related directly to the proposed action.
