working with propane

I've been working in the propane industry for over 3 years now and to see so many people rely on this energy source has been vastly eye opening. Having such opposition to propane and all its advantages just doesn't make any sense at all. Liquid petroleum gas just has too many benefits to try and out it all together. To many people rely on such a clean energy product for now and for the future. I've seen first hand and many different applications that propane is very safe and reliable and helps everyone fill the necessities needed for living.
