Shape energy policy

The CEC's IEPR provides analysis and recommendations to the Governor's Office and the legislature to craft state energy goals, policy and legislation. This year's IEPR includes a focus on energy equity and environmental justice.

Make our agency and programs more equitable and accessible

Provide input at the workshop to help create a framework for energy equity and environmental justice and improve our engagement efforts. This framework will help the CEC remove barriers and increase opportunities for all Californians.

Clean Energy Workforce

The workshop will explore approaches to advance a clean energy workforce through policy, programs, and other practices based on California's commitment to the state's workforce development system that embodies the principles of job quality, worker voice, equity and environmental sustainability.
