You may not vote to extend Diablo Canyon unless you extend public comment significantly

Hello,

I just received notice that the e-comment system for the public is now working. I sent a test comment and learned that, though we still cannot select a subject, the comment did go through. But it is now too late to notify others who had this problem that they need to resubmit their comments on a weekday during their working hours. Therefore, if you decide to deny the proposal to extend Diablo Canyon, that's ok with us, but we believe that it would be unfair and possibly illegal for the Energy Commission to decide today, or in the next few days, to extend the treacherous, aging, seismically unsafe nuclear power plant because public comment was not previously available, and many of those who tried previously will not have time to submit their comments again now, even if they learn in time that they may now do so.

Thank you for serving CA,

Phoebe Sorgen of the BFUU Social Justice Com
