Opportunities for Q&A and public comment will be provided throughout the workshop.

Shape energy policy

The CEC’s IEPR provides analysis and recommendations to the Governor’s Office and the legislature to craft state energy goals, policy and legislation. This year’s IEPR includes a focus on energy equity and environmental justice.

Make our agency and programs more equitable and accessible

At the workshop we will seek input to help create a framework for energy equity and environmental justice and explore models to improve our engagement efforts. This framework will help the CEC remove barriers and increase opportunities for all Californians. We also seek input about resources, such as technical assistance, needed by tribes and communities to accelerate adoption of clean energy technologies. Experts will explore regional hub ideas.
