fountain wind farm proposal

As long as no one is within five miles of a turbine (living or visiting) those devices aren't so bad. of course there's fire danger and obvious danger to birds (eagles too). The noise and shadow is terrible to experience for more than a day, and so unnatural. Why not put them in Yosemite, or along Huntington beach closer to the people who most need the power. Or put them out to sea where they wont bother anyone. Like it's done in Europe.
