Land destruction

Who would ever have thought, that someone would put a wind farm in the Shasta county mountains. Only companies that want their state and federal subsidies and who don't really care about the mountain ranges and the devastating footprint that they will put on the land. Many animals live on this mountain and you will be destroying their habitat. Just as happened in Mojave California, you rarely see a desert tortoise or the desert owls. Their environment was destroyed! Many birds get killed in the blades. I believe our energy consumption should be more oil and natural gas. This wind farms do not produce enough energy to supply this state. It does not produce enough jobs. And after 20 years when these wind generators are obsolete, they will remain standing and look like a graveyard of white metal.
