Opposition to project location

This project, if approved, would subject humans, animals and the environment to massive risks of fire, air and water pollution. The owners of the project have asked to be exempt from any liability and expenses should there be a system failure. There are no plans for 24 hour manned security system. The potential risk for vandalism or a terrorist attack is very real. All the batteries are manufactured in China and add to the lack of control and security.

The financial state of California with a 73 billion dollar deficit is not able to offset all the catastrophic costs associated with any failures being placed in a vulnerable location and must be denied.
