Roll out the rebates ASAP

We need these rebates as soon as possible. There is too much at stake, and too many people stand to lose their access to switch from fossil fuel appliances to electric. President-elect Trump, as well as House Republicans, have repeatedly stated that they will end this program once they are in office. Many people, including members of Congress, have repeatedly asked the DOE and the CEC in California to speed up the roll-out of this program, but all were ignored. The election has come and gone, with the Biden Administration ignoring its own visionary, and much needed program, giving the American people a promise but not delivering.

NOW is the time for the CEC to go into emergency implementation mode and make this program available by December 2024.
