Docket Number: 03-RPS-1078, RPS Proceeding

To the Executive Director:

Enclosed please find the SEP Application and Application for Confidential Designation for the GreenVolts GV1 project. GreenVolts is a San Francisco-based developer of High Concentration Photovoltaic (HCPV) technology. Founded in 2005, GreenVolts' mission is to provide utility-scale solar energy at prices competitive with conventional generation. In 2006, GreenVolts won the inaugural California Clean Tech Open business plan competition and a Public Interest Energy Research (PIER) grant from the California Energy Commission. GreenVolts' 20-year Power Purchase Agreement (PPA) with Pacific Gas and Electric Company (PG&E) is seeking CPUC approval in Advice 3074-E.

The GV1 project will add 2 MW of solar power to California's generation portfolio and produce nearly 5 GWh of renewable energy per year. Located on eight acres outside Tracy, CA, GV1 will be the first utility-scale demonstration of HCPV technology in California. GreenVolts' technology holds the promise of significant cost reduction, and its modular design allows it to be deployed in relatively small projects near load centers, deferring costly grid upgrades. The GV1 project represents a significant step down the path to make solar competitive with traditional generation.

GreenVolts' mission is to provide significant quantities of renewable generation to California at prices competitive with conventional sources of generation by 2010. Support of the GV1 project is a crucial step to helping California utilities to meet their Renewable Portfolio Standards with solar energy.
