Hello Stephania,

Thank you for your response to my email regarding the Native Americans who were informed by the developer or by the Energy Commission about the proposed Eastshore Energy Center.

In your response you express the concern that the proper persons may not have been contacted about the Eastshore project. The lists of Native American individuals and groups who volunteered to be contacted regarding development projects in Alameda County were requested from and provided by the Native American Heritage Commission. Both the Eastshore developer and Energy Commission staff sent information on the Eastshore project to the persons identified by the Native American Heritage Commission as having heritage ties to Alameda County.

As one of the Energy Commission's cultural resources staff members, I always welcome additional information about cultural resources from the public. If you know of other persons who have concerns regarding impacts to cultural resources on or near the Eastshore project site, please have them contact me at the address or telephone number below.

Sincerely,

Beverly E. Bastian
