

To whom it may concern,

Do we need more energy in the bay area, so we have to kill off the O-zone layer so we can obtain what we are fighting for which is global warming? Thought the last couple year the weather has been off, the temperature has been going up thought the bay area, temperature that put us on record a record that I don't want to see broken. With that you guy want to add another power plant to hurt us even more. It sounds like you guys want to build a power plant so we could even suffer more, so the power plant populates our air and let of have more problems, so we have to pay more money for people to fix our problems. All these power plants are doing for us is getting closer to see worlds end, no wonder why they came out with movies that show the world dying because we do too much to the plant that it cant feast off natural things no more. Like the simple quote "Get rich or Die trying!" that's what it is you get rich off these plants and we suffer to see death because were going to put all of our money into these plants. Then one day the earths going to come to an end. We try to save energy, by using certain stuff at certain times, but building another power plants allows us to use the power more. What is that saying about how much we care about living we would rather have fun and die early because of electricity NO! It's like a fat kid eating a lot when he is young and dies because he has ate too much. The o zone layer can only take so much and when it gives up then what do we do go through a whole other trauma of the world coming to and were going to try to stop it from happening by but that time it is going to be to late for us to do anything about the problem because once its gone its gone forever. Please don't pollute our air SAVE us don't let life be cut short.

Yours Truly,
