

From: <MMolden12@aol.com>
To: <Docket@energy.state.ca.us>
CC: <jfarah@wnd.com>
Date: 1/11/2008 5:29 AM
Subject: Docket No. 07-BTSD-1

To the California Energy Commission:

World Net Daily has reported this morning (article #59639) about the proposal for utility companies to remotely control thermostats in homes. A better solution to California's energy problems might be to build more power plants. Please also consider nuclear plants. There hasn't been one built in this country for several decades even though our energy requirements are greater now.

Another suggestion would be to discontinue the government assistance for the illegal aliens presently in California, $37 million from L. A. County in November alone, as also reported by World Net Daily this morning. These monies would be better spent on the power needs of legal residents.

Over the years I have enjoyed many trips to California as a tourist, but as I read how the government is handling its problems, I have less enthusiasm for future trips.

The foregoing is respectfully submitted

Mary Moldenhauer
Spokane, WA

*****Start the year off right. Easy ways to stay in shape.
<http://body.aol.com/fitness/winter-exercise?NCID=aolcmp00300000002489>