Subject: Please Don't Regulate The Heat In My Own Home

I have come to understand there is a new addition planned to Title 24 that will allow government control of the heat in new and modified homes in certain situations. Please do not invade the freedom of choice in private homes. The solution to the energy crisis is not to take basic freedom of choice from Americans. This law does not directly effect me at present, however it will if I replace my heater, which I may want to do. I do not want the government able to control something as personal as the climate controls to my home. Will you next regulate the setting on my electric blanket? Please, that last statement is a joke, do not do that.
