Subject: Docket No. 07-BTSD-1

To Whom it May Concern:

Please tell me that this is a joke. The government feels the need to control my home HVAC system and appliances? If this is a true story, the state has truly overstepped it's bounds. If you really want to help reduce people's household energy consumption, offer free programmable thermostats, attic and wall insulation, and double-pane windows. Big Brother has no business telling me what temperature to set my thermostat.
