Thank you for doing a fine job serving the people of California. As a contractor and home designer I have to protest the regulation and outside control of thermostats in new homes. I believe that there are better alternatives many of which are already in place with the 2005 Title 24 requirements and HERS inspections in a new home. Quality of construction will do much more to make a home more efficient and energy compliant.

Thank you for allowing me to share my view.
