I am a California resident, I am a homeowner, and I am an electrical engineer working in Silicon Valley. I am totally opposed to the the CEC proposal to have any form of radio controlled thermostats.

I am also totally opposed to the government being involved in any way with the generation and distribution of electricity. It is the state's centralized, authoritarian, dictatorial regulation of the low-tech energy industry which causes shortages. No amount of whips and guns and dictates can create and distribute energy, only free minds and free markets. Authoritarian control over civilized society is the sole cause of the Dark Ages - past, present, and future.
