Jackalyne Pfannenstiel

Dear Jackalyne Pfannenstiel:

I am outraged by the possibility that government would intrude into our own homes by requiring homeowners to install a thermostat that can be adjusted by government bureaucrats.

Californians already rank dead last among the 50 states in our per capita consumption of electricity. The average Californian uses about half the electricity as the average American, and less than consumers in Luxembourg, Guam, the Cayman Islands and Aruba.

What's next? What tiny matter of private concern will government try to take for itself? Perhaps government would like to determine what I eat for breakfast, or what friends I make? Stop the expansion of the government nanny state. Oppose the government controlled thermostats in our own homes.

Most sincerely,

Teresa Stevens
