Please desist from what you're thinking of doing. You cannot regulate how warm or how cold we can be in our own homes and places of business. Have you no shame.

Government needs to get out of our lives and certainly out of our homes and places of business. What happened to the land of the free. If government keeps invading our lives - why live here. We may as well move to an openly Communist country. At least there are no expectations nor hypocrisy there. They openly admit they are Communists.
