Jackalyne Pfannenstiel

Dear Jackalyne Pfannenstiel:

This sounds like private invasion at its greatest. Coming into our homes to regulate our thermostat? What if a person living in the home is regulated to have a certain temperature? What if there is a newborn in the house? What if there are elderly with medical conditions in the house? How would regulators know any of this? By finding out who lives in a home of all homes in California? What next, regulating the amount of miles allowed driven to prevent more "greenhouse" gas emissions?

Please stop the government intrusion into our own homes.

Californians already rank dead last among the 50 states in our per capita consumption of electricity. The average Californian uses about half the electricity as the average American!

Stop the expansion of the government nanny state. Oppose the government controlled thermostats in our own homes.

Sincerely,

Kenneth
