Subject: El Mirage Dry Lake usage

As to the considerations for the El Mirage Dry Lake usage. I have great concerns for this site. I am all for alternative energy sources, I feel that we MUST pursue sources of this nature. However there also needs to be a reverence for History. El Mirage Dry Lake has a long standing history of use by speed record vehicles of varied descriptions. There are not a lot of other sites that can say this, there are a lot of other sites that can say they have sun and/or wind.

Alternative energy is important. History is important. If a potential energy site also has historical significance then another site needs to be sought out. Historical sites are extremely rare and cannot be replaced. Can the same be said for sites for potential energy generation?

Please reconsider your interest in this site.
