Re: DRECP NEPA/CEQA

To whom it may concern:

- I find that not developing roof top solar as a reasonable alternative is a disservice to the people of California and the USA
- The visual impact of Transmission lines and solar farms in the dessert cannot be mitigated
- Cultural practices of vegetable farming operations are not compatible neighbors with solar farms
- Vegetable farming in the Imperial Valley is an integral part of California Agriculture and this concept was not developed

It makes sense to consider roof top solar because the energy it can generate is closer to the point of use. The further energy is transported the more it loses its effectiveness.

Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sincerely,

Mary M. Shore
