Notice of Staff Workshop on the Preliminary Assumptions Used in the Electricity Production Cost Model

California Energy Commission staff will conduct a webinar on the key assumptions used for the Integrated Energy Policy Report (IEPR) modeling of electricity production costs. These assumptions and inputs will be used to prepare the 2016 – 2026 California Energy Demand Forecast, the Natural Gas Outlook Report, the Transportation Energy Demand Forecast, and electricity supply dispatch models.

Background

Public Resources Code Section 25301 requires the Energy Commission to prepare an IEPR every two years that includes assessments and forecasts of all aspects of energy industry supply, production, transportation, delivery and distribution, demand, and prices. The Energy Commission develops these assessments and forecasts of the state's electricity and natural gas markets, including statewide and regional electricity and natural gas demand, incorporating factors leading to future demand growth, such as changes in economic activity, population growth, urban development, industrial expansion and energy intensity, growth in different building types, and energy and environmental policies.

During the February 26, 2015, workshop, staff will provide an overview of the demand forecast process, including the common case scenarios that will be used in all the models, followed by presentations on the common inputs and assumptions used in all the models, then specific inputs and assumptions used by each model. The presentations will also highlight the factors that will change from the two previous forecasts used in the 2013 IEPR and the 2014 IEPR Update.

This March 10, 2015, webinar will expand on the topics from this workshop to discuss the preliminary assumptions in the production cost model simulations. Specifically, the presentations will include the following topics:

- Projections for greenhouse gas offset price projections
- Average hydro generation forecast
- Annual statewide Renewables Portfolio Standard calculation and 2015 – 2026 renewable portfolio snapshot
- Once-through cooling compliance assumptions

Public Comment

Oral Comments: Staff will accept oral comments during the webinar. Public comments may be limited to three minutes per speaker. Any comments will become part of the public record in this proceeding.

Written Comments: Written comments should be submitted by March 23, 2015. Written comments will also be accepted at the webinar; however, the Energy Commission may not have time to review them before the conclusion of the workshop. All written comments will become part of the public record of this proceeding.

For the 2015 IEPR, the Energy Commission is using a new electronic commenting system. Visit the website at http://www.energy.ca.gov/2015_energypolicy/ and click on the “Submit e-Comment” link in the “Proceeding Information” box. From the drop down menu, please select the appropriate docket number, for example, 15-IEPR-03.

This will take you to the page for adding comments to that docket. Please enter your contact information and comment title. You may include comments in the box titled “comment text” or attach a file with your comments. Attached comments must be in a Microsoft® Word (.doc, .docx) or Adobe® Acrobat® (.pdf) formatted file.

The Energy Commission encourages use of its new electronic commenting system, but written comments may also be submitted by handing them directly to the Public Adviser, by emailing them to the Dockets Office, or by U.S. mail to:
