Agenda

CEC staff will present proposed forms and instructions for gas-related data. Staff will describe and provide detailed information on various forms and instructions and will take questions during the presentation. There will also be time for public comment.

A detailed meeting schedule with the draft forms and instructions will be posted prior to the workshop to the 2023 IEPR Workshops, Notices and Documents at:

<https://www.energy.ca.gov/data-reports/reports/integrated-energy-policy-report/2023-integrated-energy-policy-report/2023-iepr>.

Background

The CEC is directed by California Public Resources Code Section 25301 to regularly assess all aspects of energy demand and supply to develop energy policies that conserve resources, protect the environment, ensure energy reliability enhance the state's economy, and protect public health and safety. These assessments are the foundation for analyses and policy recommendations to the Governor, Legislature, and other agencies. To carry out these assessments the CEC "may require submission of demand forecasts, resource plans, market assessments, and related outlooks from electric, natural gas utilities, transportation fuel and technology suppliers, and other market participants" (California Public Resources Code Section 25301[a][2]).

In support of gas assessments for the 2023 IEPR proceeding, staff collects, and reviews gas demand and rate forecast information from gas utilities in California. The draft forms and instructions prepared by staff identify the information gas utilities must submit regarding their demand forecasts; prices; energy efficiency impacts; demand response impacts; procurement of lower carbon fuels; rates and infrastructure; and related information for 2023 through 2035, and historical years 2021 and 2022.
